A mis amigos que hablan español: lamento que el poema no se traduzca como se escucha en inglés.

A Holiday Poem

And so here we all are another year to its end
What a trip, a whirlpool, a tremendous effort it's been

Who could have guessed when we started it be
As tumultuous, transformational, and challenging to see

One another, our families, and friends all feeling trapped under a rock
Without hand shakes or hugs, lights off and doors locked

But we persisted and forged new paths and ways to connect
ZOOMED through it on desktops, cell phones and tried not to infect

A struggle to rename or just turn off ones camera and go back to sleep
Challenged to connect with the newcomer without being a creep

To practice the principles and new ways to remain calmer
What does it say about me that I enjoyed a few of those bombers

But we made it and we know that there's something much bigger for us all
A purpose that's primary and a sacrifice to help pick up those of us who fall

And so with joy in my heart and a reminder that each day is a gift
From the way it once was, dark, desperate and adrift

That with purpose and unity the suffering alcoholic we'll find
With a few extra calls to my sponsor and a reminder to be kind

And so, I pray for us all. I pray we fight the good fight
And if it happens to be dark, may your sobriety bring light!

Happy Holidays!!!
